Overview

There has never been a better time to progress your career in this rewarding sector with a fee-free aged care training place.

This program is designed for those who are already working in the aged care sector and have completed a CHC33015 Certificate III in Individual Support (Ageing) qualification (or a related superseded qualification).

This qualification reflects the role of support workers who complete specialised tasks and functions in aged services; either in residential, home or community-based environments. Workers will take responsibility for their own outputs within defined organisation guidelines and maintain quality service delivery through the development, facilitation and review of individualised service planning and delivery.

If you identify you already have some, or all, of the knowledge and skills required for a unit, and you can demonstrate this, you will be offered the opportunity to speak with ET Australia's Assessor about Recognition.

Achievement of this nationally recognised qualification will take your career to the next level and will prepare you for supervisory roles.

* Training under JobTrainer is fee-free and fully funded by the NSW and Commonwealth governments. Eligibility criteria applies.

Structure

Overview

This program combines student self-paced study and workplace activities for learning and assessment purposes.

Self-paced learning allows learners the flexibility to study at times that are suitable. Learners can work through learning material independently knowing that a dedicated Trainer and Assessor will guide them through the training and assessment process and be available for support when required.

This mode of study suits students who have good time management skills and who don't need structured face to face sessions.

A self-paced study mode does not suit all learners, so please carefully consider if you feel you have the self-motivation, discipline and time management skills necessary to complete study without having access to a structured classroom-based program.

Recognition

Some of the units contained within the qualification also sit within the CHC33015 Certificate III in Individual Support qualification. For units previously achieved, students can apply for credit transfer, and if the credit transfer/s are approved the student does not need to redo these units. For students who previously completed a related superseded qualification e.g. CHC30212 Certificate III in Aged Care, and who have current relevant skills and knowledge, there is the option to apply for Recognition of Prior Learning.

Work Placement

Students are required to complete at least 120 hours of work placement in an aged care setting. This is mandatory for successful completion of the qualification.

It is imperative that students are working in an aged care setting and have the support of their workplace to allow for application of learning and for assessment purposes.

Training Term

The nominal term for training is 18 months for someone who holds a CHC33015 Certificate III in Individual Support qualification. For students who hold a superseded related Certificate III level qualification the training term is 24 months.

As the training is competency based a student can achieve the qualification in a shorter timeframe. If the qualification is completed within a shorter timeframe the students must still complete the mandated 120 hours of work placement.

Training Plan

Each student has a personalised Training Plan. The Training Plan is developed in consultation with an ET Australia Representative and the student.

The Training Plan will guide the student's learning and assessment. It will outline indicative commencement dates for each unit of competency and will also provide indicative dates for completion. The Training Plan outlines the types of assessment that will be used for each unit.

The Training Plan will also outline any support requirements necessary to assist with progression through training and assessment.

The Training Plan is a working document to be used for the duration of the subsidised training program and will be updated as necessary to reflect the current status of training. A copy of the current Training Plan, including any updates, will be kept by ET Australia with a copy provided to the student.

How it all works

For self-paced students, ET Australia's Workplace Trainer / Assessor will typically conduct face to face visits for an induction and for learning and assessment purposes:

- An induction visit – at this time discussions will be held around the units of competency, the Training Plan, roles and responsibilities of the student, ET Australia and support requirements. Students will be issued with a learner resource for the first unit of competency. The Trainer / Assessor will provide guidance around the learner resource, the key learning areas and provide instruction around the assessment requirements for the first unit. An agreed due date for completion of assessment work will be set, and a date will be scheduled for the next face to face visit.
- The Trainer / Assessor will schedule face to face visits periodically throughout the training term. The face to face visits may occur in the student's workplace or at an alternative venue. These face to face visits are scheduled so there is a visit approximately once every 2-3 months. At the time of these visits the student will be issued with 2 units to commence work on. The purpose of the face to face visits are to go over key learning areas for the units the students are to commence work on, to provide assistance with learning and / or assessment, to explain assessment requirements for units issued, and to provide feedback on completed assessment work.
- For each unit of competency, the student will be issued with an Assessment Plan that contains instructions for completion of assessment activities. Each activity for completion will have an assigned due date. If assessments are issued, the Trainer / Assessor will take the time to:
  - Explain the purpose of the assessment and the assessment process
  - Explain the units of competency to be assessed and the evidence to be collected
  - Outline the specific tasks (in detail) and how these will be facilitated within the workplace or simulated workplace
  - Identify individual needs of the learner and, where applicable, negotiate reasonable adjustment for individual needs without compromising the competency outcomes
  - Seek feedback regarding the learner's understanding of the units of competency, evidence requirements and assessment process
  - Review key learning areas
- Throughout the period, there is support available outside of scheduled face to face visits via phone and email. An ET Australia Representative will maintain regular contact with students to check on progress and to determine if additional learning support / assessment support is required. Support requirements will be detailed in the Training Plan.

Entry Requirements

This program has been designed for a student who is employed within an aged care facility / organisation as a Care Worker or similar and has previously completed a CHC33015 Certificate III in Individual Support or CHC30212 Certificate III in Aged Care qualification (students who have previously completed one of these qualifications are eligible to apply for Recognition of Prior Learning).

Students will require adequate language, literacy and numeracy skills that allow them to read and interpret information, understand training, demonstrate leadership skills as well as provide and follow clear instructions, and prepare written assignments and documents for assessment. In addition, sound digital skills are required, as digital skills are needed to assist with completion of assessment work (eg using the internet to undertake research activities) and can be needed for electronic submission of assessment work.

The learning and assessment model requires all students to have the support of the workplace whilst undertaking this study to allow them to apply their learning and complete assessment tasks in the context of the workplace.

There are no formal entry requirements for CHC43015 Certificate IV in Ageing Support, however, it is recommended students:

- have at least one year's industry experience

This mode of study suits students who are self-motivated, disciplined, have good time management skills and who don't need structured classroom-based face to face sessions. All applicants must attend an interview for selection into the program.

Applicants must have the support of their workplace and a Workplace Supervisor, along with access to workplace resources (including residents / clients and a small work team). ET Australia will confirm this support and access prior to enrolment.

Further Study

Students who successfully complete this qualification may further their studies to Diploma level in a variety of qualifications from the Community Services Training Package or they may choose to further their studies to HLT54121 Diploma of Nursing.

Assessments

A number of practical and theoretical assessment tasks will be issued for each unit. Examples of tasks include written question and answer activities, case studies, simulations, scenarios, projects and practical on the job activities.

There is a strong emphasis on application of learning in the workplace so many of the assessment activities will require the student to complete work-related activities (including supervisory activities) therefore a supportive employer and access to an aged care workplace is essential.

Many of the on-the-job assessment tasks will require the student to gain permission from their Workplace Supervisor to undertake workplace related assessment tasks. There will also be instances when the Workplace Supervisor will be asked to observe the student's performance undertaking activities related to assessment and for the Workplace Supervisor to provide feedback.

In addition, to meet assessment requirements for a number of units students will require access to;

- at least 3 different clients with differing health conditions and needs, and
- a 'team' of people to complete assessments that require the student to lead a team or work with a team (a team of 2 or more i.e. other than themselves).

Students are required to participate in at least 120 hours of mandatory work placement undertaking direct support work. Students who are working in aged care can complete these hours within their workplace.
